

Amendments to the Abstract

Please replace the abstract with the following:

Systems and methods are provided for using an interactive television program guide to display video that is accompanied by audio on a display on which program listings are displayed. A plurality of program listings are displayed on the display. In response to a user navigating to a particular program listing of the plurality of program listings, video that is accompanied by audio and that is associated with the particular program listing is displayed.